Crypto Currency

A cryptocurrency, crypto currency or crypto is a digital asset designed to work as a medium of exchange wherein individual coin ownership records are stored in a ledger existing in a form of computerized database using strong cryptography to secure transaction records, to control the creation of additional coins, and to verify the transfer of coin ownership. It typically does not exist in physical form (like paper money) and is typically not issued by a central authority. Cryptocurrencies typically use decentralized control as opposed to centralized digital currency and central banking systems. When a cryptocurrency is minted or created prior to issuance or issued by a single issuer, it is generally considered centralized. When implemented with decentralized control, each cryptocurrency works through distributed ledger technology, typically a blockchain, that serves as a public financial transaction database.

Stock & Forex

As the name suggests, the stock market is a marketplace for the trading of stocks or shares. There are many stock markets around the world, and the UK's main exchange is The London Stock Exchange (LSE).

To form a market index, company shares are grouped together, and their value is combined as a weighted average (the bigger the company the larger its effect on the value of the index) resulting in a figure. Generally, companies of similar size and value are grouped together. Often you hear the market being up or down. This relates to stock market indices rising and falling.

“If a company you hold shares in pays dividends, you’ll receive dividend payments. If a company is successful and manages to grow profits over time, the amount it pays out as a dividend can increase.”

Real Estate

Real estate trading is the wild side of real estate investment. Like day traders, who are distinct from buy-and-hold investors, real estate traders are an entirely different breed from buy-and-rent landlords. Real estate traders buy properties with the intention of holding them for a short period of time, often no more than three to four months, after which they hope to sell them for a profit. This technique is also called flipping properties and is based on buying properties that are either significantly undervalued or in a very hot market.

As property flippers we often forgo putting any money into a house for improvements; the investment has to have the intrinsic value to turn a profit without alteration or we won't consider it. Flipping in this manner is a short-term cash investment. To take advantage of potentially large returns, we have to have cash on hand, as traditional financing doesn't generally work for this type of transaction.

A second class of property flipper also exists. These investors make their money by buying reasonably priced properties and adding value by renovating them. This can be a longer-term investment depending on the extent of the improvements. The limiting feature of this investment is that it is time intensive and often only allows investors to take on one or two properties at a time hence we try to avoid properties with high maintenance cost and focus more on properties with high undervalue

MINING

WHAT'S THE INCENTIVE FOR MINERS?

It all comes down to trust: Miners keep the blockchains trustworthy and are rewarded for their efforts.

As miners, we are processing and verifying the transactions of the cryptocurrency ecosystems and keeping their public transaction history (Blockchains) maintained and secure. For this, the mining community is rewarded with the networks' transaction fees and newly created coins. It's a win-win situation! When you start mining with us, you are getting your share of this reward.

HOW IS BITCOIN KEPT SECURE?

The only way to not create money out of thin air or corrupt it, is to burn real energy. This is called Proof-Of-Work.

Today, bitcoin is the most secure computer network on the planet and it's practically impossible to break it! The reason for that is hash power, the umbrella term used for the computing power that miners provide to the bitcoin network and similar cryptocurrency networks. Due to the rapid growth of the ecosystem, mining operations today are mostly running with specialized high-performance computers that function most efficiently set up in large data centers.
